

STAINLESS STEEL PRICE RESTRUCTURE /
DISCOUNT RESTRUCTURE *Price reduction over all!

In the last decade, the demand for stainless steel products has changed from a niche market comprising food and marine industries to becoming a mainstream requirement in many areas, especially construction.

Due to this growth, there are many more manufacturers in the market and we have been able to source a larger range from different areas than previously available.

This has led to us now being in the position where we can reduce our prices to you on roughly 95% plus of our range. The lower prices will be combined with a slight change in discount structure which will lead to lower overall net prices. We feel this will offer you better value over a larger range of products.
